Gentlemen = In a small box I am mailing to you in the same post with this letter, five coins which may be an interesting addition to your collections. If so you are welcome to them.

The old Roman coin, which seems like a beautiful piece of stamping to me, was found in Italica near Seville Spain. I should be very pleased to have you tell me what it is. There are ancient Roman ruins where it was found. When my husband and I went there several years ago.

The other coin of Philip the Fourth

Val Maximiano. Antioch mint

of Spain may prove rare coin also. Of course I do not know how rare these coins are but am glad to send them.

The other modern ones may help to complete your most interesting collections

I am,

Very Sincerely Yours,

(Mrs.) Myrtle de Montis

Mrs. Myrtle de Montis,
Gig Harbor, Washington.

Dear Madam:-

The coins that you sent us sometime ago reached us safely. We are sure an acknowledgment was made at the time but if not, we beg to apologize for this neglect. We, however, now take the opportunity to thank you very much for these coins and wish to tell you that they have been incorporated in our collection.

An official acknowledgment will be sent you in a few days. The delay in this is because our President has been away all Summer.

Again apologizing we beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

Curator.
